

Book launch – Maritime Boundary Delimitation: The Case Law; Is it Consistent and Predictable?

The K.G. Jebsen Centre for the Law of the Sea (JCLOS) of the UiT the Arctic University of Norway, the Peace Palace Library and Le Club de Droit International will be hosting a book launch to celebrate the publication of Maritime Boundary Delimitation: The Case Law; Is it Consistent and Predictable? edited by Alex Oude Elferink, Tore Henriksen and Signe Busch of the JCLOS and published by Cambridge University Press.

The book launch is scheduled to take place at the Peace Palace Library, Carnegieplein 2, The Hague on 17 May 2018 from 16:00 to 18:00

The law of maritime delimitation has been mostly developed through the case law of the International Court of Justice and other tribunals. In the past decade there have been a number of cases that raise questions about the consistency and predictability of the jurisprudence concerning this sub-field of international law. This book investigates these questions through a systematical review of the case law on the delimitation of the continental shelf and the exclusive economic zone.

Program

- 16:00-16:15 Welcome and introduction of the JCLOS
- 16:15-16:30 Presentation of the project and the book and presentation of first copy
- 16:30-17:15 Panel discussion with time for QandA on the consistency and predictability of the maritime delimitation case law with Alex Oude Elferink of the JCLOS and Yoshifumi Tanaka of the University of Copenhagen
- 17:15-18:00 Drinks

Attendance and registration

The launch is open to the public. For security reasons it is required that attendees register beforehand. It is compulsory to present a valid ID upon entering the premises of the Peace Palace. For further information and registration please contact Mrs. C. Skjervold of the JCLOS (christin.skjervold@uit.no).